Fear Of Flying Erica Jong

Fear of Flying is a 1973 novel by Erica Jong which became controversial for its portrayal of female sexuality and figured in the development of second-wave feminism. The novel is written in the first person: narrated by its protagonist, Isadora Zelda White Stollerman Wing, a 29-year-old poet who has published two books of poetry. On a trip to Vienna with her second husband, Isadora decides to indulge her sexual fantasies with another man. Its tone may be considered conversational or informal. Th

Erica Jong on Fear of Flying - YouTube

The great liberation I found in Erica Jong's novel was not the zipless fuck but rather "Wow, it's not just me!" about the stewing insecurity under the veneer of confidence and success. And, by itemizing those insecurities, she castrates them of their power. 'Fear of Flying' is not about sex but, rather, how women seek to define and obliterate themselves through sex and through love.
